A day in the life of an interior designer

A day in the life of an interior designer is waking up getting in the shower, eating a nice healthy breakfast, drinking a cup of coffee, getting dressed nicely, contacting the people that needs interior design help, and meet with the clients to work out a design plan, then you would need to contact all of the contractors to get to work.

Interior Designers

- ❖ Make $40,000 between $50,000
- ❖ Usually need a Bachelor's degree
- ❖ Can either work from home or at a store if they own one
- ❖ Create the interior design of a room

I decided to choose Joanna Gaines because she is a very popular interior designer on HGTV, and she does a really good job on interior design. I found out that Joanna Gaines's father used to own a Firestone shop and had commercials and starred Joanna in them.

Joanna Gaines

Joanna Gaines is an interior designer, that lives and works in Texas. Joanna has a Bachelor's degree to work in interior design. Joanna and her husband Chip have been renovating houses ever since they got married. They started off flipping houses for money but then started to remodel houses after the market changed. Their production company saw photos of one of their flip homes on a popular blog and contacted her and then became a part of HGTV.

I find this career interesting because i watch a lot of HGTV and I like the before and after photos, the reveal of homes, and all of the cool designs.
